

Obsolescence Policy

Fairbanks Morse Defense has been producing power systems since 1896 and is proud of this heritage. Many of the power systems produced in prior years are still in productive operation.

We are committed to supporting the parts and service needs of engines still operating in revenue service and will assist those customers to the maximum extent possible in providing replacement parts and technical services. In order to establish guidelines to services provided, we are providing the following information.

Engine models that are obsolete and no longer supported for renewal parts or technical information:

Model N, Z, ZC, CO, Y
Model 34,35,36,42,44,45,46,47,48,49,50
ALCO Model 244
All FM generators, electric motors, magnetos, and pumps.

Engine models that are supported for normal (wearing) replacement parts:

Certain major components or castings for these models may no longer be available. Technical data concerning these models is no longer available and must be obtained from existing customer records. Model 31A & AD18, Model 32, 14x17, 12x15, Model 33 & 37, 14x17, 16x20
